IGAZI NURSING COURSE

Haematology nurses form the foundation of a good haematology and stem cell transplantation service. Being well trained is foundational to the good outcomes of their patients and therefore, any initiative supporting nursing training in Haematology, is not only welcomed, but greatly needed in South Africa, but also in Africa as a whole. I would like to congratulate Igazi and the colleagues who spent countless hours on developing, editing and fine-tuning this course and it is my sincere hope that all nurses in haematology will take this opportunity to upskill themselves to the benefit of their patients.

Sincerely,
